

I'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER

I can't wait for my upcoming family vacation! I've been working so hard lately that I've barely been able to see my kids, so I'm really excited to spend time playing on the beach with them. I need to enter their info to finish booking our plane tickets, and then we'll be all set. My older girl turned three back on October 6th, and she's generally a pretty good traveler. My new baby girl just had her first birthday on March 21st, so while she would usually be eligible to sit in my lap, this is an international flight, so I'll have to get her a seat of her own. We'll see how she does on her first flight! We will certainly be opting for the nonstop flight since my husband will be meeting us there, and I don't want to have to deal with switching planes with two little ones all by myself. Certainly won't be a cheap purchase, but I know, with their ages, it will spell fun for all to have the easiest travel experience possible. And, lucky for me, my SkyMiles credit card will let me check a bag for free, so we will try to bring as little on the plane as we can. So now the tickets are booked, and I only have a little less than a week to get through to make it to our Friday departure! Now I just have to get my husband our flight number so that he can track our arrival, and we'll be good to go!
