

The Petronas Towers

The Petronas Towers are the tallest twin towers in the world, reaching 88 stories from entrance to top. Comprised primarily of reinforced concrete with a steel and glass facade, a sky bridge connects the two skyscrapers on the 41st and 42nd floors. The towers also have the unique distinction of having the world's deepest foundation, owing to the depth of the bedrock on which they were built.

Mangled Works

"Our favorite family works can't survive without some spikey-haired brat coming along and mangling everything. Just begin looking at what was changed, you'll see it adds up to something big."

- Lyle Lanley, December 17, 1989
