

Don't Mess with Wikipedia

Witness: Andy Crane

1. Evidence answers must be submitted to the situation room using the www.collegepuzzlechallenge.com website.
2. Evidence answers submitted directly from an email account will not be accepted.
3. Answers are a word or a short phrase. If in doubt, submit intermediate work to the situation room. Your question will be queued. The situation room can sometimes validate that you are heading in the correct direction.
4. No puzzle requires the final solution or penultimate clues to be anagrammed. If letters are out of order, the puzzle provides a way to confirm the order of the letters to the final solution or clue.
5. Do not interfere with other investigation teams by altering evidence on internet resources such as Wikipedia. For instance, under no circumstances should any person change the contents of the "College Puzzle Challenge" page on Wikipedia.
